Time travel in a fly-fishing Eldorado

-Where time stands still in this silent land

Imagine in your mind's eye a wondrously quiet wilderness with a glittering river – clear waters where the brown trout and the grayling breach sporadically for flies in the light of the midnight sun. It is a silence where the only sound is the rhythm of your eager casts and the water bubbling on to the next stretch of smooth water. Lapland Vuollerim hands you the key to this wilderness, one where time seems to stand still as the dry fly slowly approaches the fish waiting in the stream.

Our experiences guide leads you to this wondrous forest river where he has fished for nearly 40 years. He will provide you with local wilderness fare and share local lore from earlier times, ones when the Siberian jay would soundlessly appear and eat from your hand.

Day 1, Tuesday:

Checking in at Hotel Vuollerim and experience the silence and the stillness of this sleepy village in Lapland. Enjoy dinner and drinks whilst mingling with the villagers, who will provide you with local produce during your days of fishing..

Days 2-4, Wednesday-Friday:

We start early Wednesday morning on our journey to the river in no-man's land to the site where we will camp the first two nights. This is where you have an opportunity to catch really large grayling with a dry-fly on the snood. It was here in the fresh waters of this forest river flowing from the alpine area south of Kvikkjokk that logger Arvid Nyman caught a wonderful 2.8 kg grayling on August 17, 1919. Such still swim here, but are rare. Still, as long as the fly floats on the water in the stream, it is possible. We move up and downstream the camp and close the fishing shifts with good food and memorable fishing stories.

After lunch on Friday we break camp and move on to another stretch of the river.

Days 4-6, Friday-Sunday:

This time we camp next to a mighty waterfall where the river leaps over a cliff and has carved a deepness where the hard to please giant trout holds court. However, before trying our fishing luck, a cup of coffee by the campfire feels right. The downstream stretch always suggests large fish and here, if your fishing luck holds, your backing line can disappear in no time after a strong bite. A hanging bridge makes it easy to fish from both shores. This is where you will seek and find your favourite place among the streaming, rapid and smooth waters.

Sunday after lunch we break camp and return to Hotel Vuollerim Inn with new fishing stories to tell.

Join us in a historical tale at the campfire where few roads run, where no paths or fireplaces are to be seen and where the fishing is incredible.

Guide's fly fishing equipment:

Calm days, I use my 10# or 11# Class 6 single-handed rods. "Fast action" - windy days, I prefer my 10# Class 7 or 8: a single-handed "Super fast action" rod.

I use a floating WF line with a loop braided system, then leaders with different sinking rates. Orvis Mirage fluorocarbon tippet material, from 0.10 mm to 0.22 mm for the largest flies.

This is my way to fish, and is only a suggestion of suitable fly fishing equipment.
